Responding to Harm¹²

Harm caused by physical or sexual abuse

Under Section 13E(3) of the Child Protection Act 1999, if a doctor, a registered nurse, a teacher or an early childhood education and care professional forms a 'reportable suspicion' about a child "in the course of their engagement in their profession", they must make a written report.

A reportable suspicion about a child is a reasonable suspicion that the child:

- a) has suffered, is suffering, or is at unacceptable risk of suffering, significant harm caused by physical or sexual abuse; and
- b) may not have a parent able and willing to protect the child from the harm.

The doctor, nurse, teacher or early childhood education and care professional must give a written report to the Chief Executive of the Department of Families, Seniors, Disability Services and Child Safety (or another department administering the Child Protection Act 1999). The doctor, nurse, teacher or early childhood education and care professional should give a copy of the report to the principal.

A report under this section must include the following particulars:

- a) the basis on which the person has formed the reportable suspicion¹³;
- b) the child's name, age and sex descriptor;
- c) details of how to contact the child;
- d) details of the harm to which the reportable suspicion relates;
- e) particulars of the identity of the person suspected of causing the child to have suffered, suffer, or be at risk of suffering, the harm to which the reportable suspicion relates;
- f) particulars of the identity of any other person who may be able to give information about the harm to which the reportable suspicion relates¹⁴.

Harm Caused By Psychological or Emotional Abuse or Neglect

When the College receives any information alleging 'harm'¹⁵ to a student (other than harm arising from physical or sexual abuse) it will deal with the situation compassionately and fairly so as to minimise any likely harm to the extent it reasonably can, this may include reporting through the principal to Child Safety.¹⁶ If the harm is not at a level that is otherwise reportable to Child Safety, the matter should be referred to the principal, who may then refer the matter to Family and Child Connect.

Responsibilities under Criminal Code Act 1899 (Qld)

The Criminal Code Act 1899 includes two offences that pertain to the failure to report a child sexual offence and the failure to protect a child against a child sexual offence. A child sexual offence is an offence of a sexual nature by an adult against a child under 16 years or a person with an impairment of the mind.

Failure to Report¹⁷

Under section 229BC of the Code, all adults must report sexual offences against a child by another adult to police as soon as reasonably practicable after the belief is, or ought reasonably to have been, formed. Failure to make a report, without a reasonable excuse, is a criminal offence. This offence applies to all adults inclusive of students 18 years or older, as well as parents/guardians and volunteers at the College. A reasonable excuse not to make a report under the Criminal Code Act 1899 includes that a report has already been made under the Education (General Provisions) Act 2006 (reporting sexual abuse or likely sexual abuse) and the Child Protection Act 1999 (reporting significant harm or risk of significant harm) as per this policy.

Failure to Protect¹⁸

Under section 229BB of the Code, all adults in positions of power or responsibility within institutions to reduce or remove the risk of child sexual offences being committed must take reasonable steps to protect children in their care from a child sexual offence. A failure to protect is an offence.

Awareness

The College will inform staff, students and parents of its processes relating to the health, safety and conduct of staff and students in communications to them and it will publish these processes on its website¹⁹.

The College ensures that staff, students, and parents are informed of its child protection processes through a consistent and transparent communication framework. Information is made readily accessible via the College website and MyCool. Staff receive detailed guidance during induction and ongoing training, while students are informed through age-appropriate communication such as assemblies and student diaries. Parents are introduced to the College's child protection expectations and procedures during enrolment interviews and have ongoing access to this information through published materials and the College office. This multi-layered approach ensures that all members of the College community are aware of, and understand, the processes in place to support student safety and wellbeing.

Training

The College will train its staff in processes relating to the health, safety and conduct of staff and students on their induction and will refresh training annually²¹.

The College ensures that all staff are appropriately trained in implementing its child protection processes through a structured and well-documented approach. Training is provided during staff induction and reinforced through mandatory annual professional learning, ensuring all staff remain informed of current legislative requirements and College procedures. The governing body monitors compliance through maintained evidence such as training sessions, records of child protection and induction documentation. In addition, the College undertakes regular reviews of the handling of complaints and incidents to evaluate the effectiveness of practices and identify areas for improvement, ensuring a consistent and accountable approach to student safety and wellbeing.

Implementing the Processes

The College will ensure it is implementing processes relating to the health, safety and conduct of staff and students by auditing compliance with the processes annually²².

Complaints Procedure

Suggestions of non-compliance with the College's processes may be submitted as complaints under CBCC Complaints Handling Policy and Procedure²³.
